Steven W. Huffman

After majoring in Architecture at Iowa State University, Steve Huffman entered the construction field of residential and small commercial projects. While working many years in specialty areas, Steve began making sculptures using going green, and recycling various textured metal items, colorful rocks, fire, and sometimes water. Every sculpture Steve makes is different and there is never a repeat. Sizes range from 16 inches to 7 feet in height. While his wife says he can't keep them all, the piece Steve enjoys the most is always his next design. Steve lives in Ottumwa, IA, and divides his time between his construction company and his sculptures in MetalScapes Art.
