Gin Lammert

Artist Gin Lammert has been expressing herself with drawings and paintings all her life. It was not until her mid 20's, doing several small works for others, that she finally began calling herself an artist instead of saying this is "just something I can do." Gin is best known for her incredible ability to capture the likeness and essence of individuals and animals in her portrait work, landscape, portrait or still life, and because of this, her work has been labeled "Treasures from the Heart" by both private and corporate collectors. Many say Gin captures a likeness, tells a story, and evokes an emotion. Others ask how she could part with her art after putting so much of herself into a piece. Gin has participated in and won numerous awards at juried fine art shows in the Midwest United States. Gin lives in Pulaski, IA with her husband.
